Textbook and Course Objectives
Calculus: Early Transcendentals 2nd Ed., by Briggs, Cochran and Gillett, together with MyMathLab access, available from the SFSU bookstore.
We will cover: Chapter 5: Integration; Chapter 6, sections 1 to 5: Applications; Chapter 7: Techniques of Integration; Chapter 8: Sequences and Series; and Chapter 9: Power Series.
The class will be a mix of lectures, worked-out examples, discussions and exercises. The lab with the TA will be primarily devoted to questions and answers and further examples and exercises.

Homework, Tests and Grading
Online homework on MyMathLab will be assigned regularly and will be due on Monday of the next week. MML ID: langlois40141.
Hard copy homework will be assigned regularly and will be due in class.
There will be four quizzes (2-3 questions, 25-30 min each), one midterm exams (6-7 questions, 75 min) and one final exam (8-10 questions, 120 min).
Grade will be based on 20% homework and participation, 30% quizzes, 20% midterm, and 30% Final.
No make-ups of any kind will be given except for compelling and well documented reasons.

Instructor Policy
Undivided attention to the class is expected from all students during class-time. Using cellphones, tablets (except for handwritten note-taking) or laptops, taking a nap or having lunch are not authorized and will be considered disruptive. However, going to the restroom or drinking fluids is perfectly Ok.
Students are encouraged to participate and ask questions. Lecture and lab attendance is mandatory and instructors will take roll. All interactions should be courteous. Student complaints, if any, must be made privately and outside class. Late students may be turned away. The instructor may reseat students during tests.

Students are allowed personal notes (1 page for quizzes, 2 pages for midterm and 3 pages for final) during tests. No calculators are allowed during tests. No recording of classes (taping, filming or picture-taking) is allowed without prior permission from the instructor.

Disruptive students will be asked to leave immediately. The following is straight from the SFSU website: https://conduct.sfsu.edu/dealing-disruptive-students

What is disruptive behavior?

Depending on the size and nature of your class what is considered "disruptive" may vary. In general, disruption and obstruction include behavior that interferes with, disrupts, or prevents normal classroom functions or activities. Disruptive behaviors can range from mildly distracting to clearly disorderly, violent, or dangerous. Depending on course rules set by the instructor, disruption in the classroom may include:

- side conversations, ringing cell phones or using a cell phone to talk or send text messages
- interrupting the instructor or other students
- monopolizing class discussion and refusing to defer to instructor, or listen to others; persisting when the instructor has indicated that the student’s remarks are off topic and it is time to move on
- entering late/leaving early, moving about the classroom
- filming, photographing, or taping the class
- yelling, arguing, swearing or other intimidating behavior
- reading, sleeping, eating, drinking, or not paying attention
- showing up to class under the influence of alcohol/drugs

University Policy

Disability access

Students with disabilities who need reasonable accommodations are encouraged to contact the instructor. The Disability Programs and Resource Center (DPRC) is available to facilitate the reasonable accommodations process. The DPRC is located in the Student Service Building and can be reached by telephone (voice/415-338-2472, video phone/415-335-7210) or by email (dprc@sfsu.edu).

Student disclosures of sexual violence

SF State fosters a campus free of sexual violence including sexual harassment, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and/or any form of sex or gender discrimination. If you disclose a personal experience as an SF State student, the course instructor is required to notify the Title IX Coordinator by completing the report form available at http://titleix.sfsu.edu, emailing vpsaem@sfsu.edu or calling 338-2032.
To disclose any such violence confidentially, contact:
