Conclusion

- Partnerships and community coalitions, in this case and within this topic, may be the answer.

Conclusion

- Partnerships and coalitions, pluralism of community services and a fanning out of engagement may be the method that this community responds to the demands that violence and the lack of public safety brings.

Conclusion

- Of the nonprofits profiled, we have found that none explicitly demonstrate a full-blown, concerted effort to tackle the problems of violence and the lack of public safety in the Western Addition.
